14th Edgworth Folk FESTIVAL

Fri 3rd to Sun 5th October 2025

at The Barlow, Bolton Rd, Edgworth, Bolton BL7 0AP

Celebrating Helen Howard

Helen brought us her warmth, generosity and friendship.
A talented MC, singer, percussionist, and Mother Hen to our many visiting artists.
We will miss her immensely.
Our logo is the folk-rose.
Helen was our very own folk rose.

Sid Calderbank

Mr Lancashire returns to delight us with songs, stories jokes and recitations from our native county

Close Quarters

Fantastic Lakes harmony trio—singers of delightful songs with rousing choruses

Nick Dow

Beautiful relaxing songs with a story delivered by a deep, moving and almost hypnotic voice

Sally Williams

Renowned and published Lancashire dialect poet performing her own hilarious material, looking so sweet and innocent....

Chris & Siobhan Nelson

Outstanding duo—traditional and contemporary songs—fiddle, octave violin, tenor guitar, viola, octave mandola or sung a cappella.

The Riot Band

Friday night at the Festival sees us dancing and foot-tapping to long-standing ceilidh band The Riot Band.
Guest spot—Nat Clare., Dance Spot—Regency ReJigged

Oddfellows Sessions

A plethora of talented well-established singers and musicians including Tinker Dave, Andy Kenna, Dave Boulton and more

Mark Dowding

.Stalwart of English folk singing both trad and contemporary, enormous repertoire, great voice, the best of entertainment

Caffrey McGurk Madge

Polished traditional folk, sensitively performed on voice, guitar, bouzouki and anglo-concertinas

Stanley Accrington

Inventive, prolific, topical, funny, thought-provoking, who knows what material Stan will bring this year?

Poppy weatherall

Following recent Snapes gigs, Poppy is here as a virtuoso violinist in her own right.

The Apple Sellers

Musical story-telling duo Martin Purdy (Harp & a Monkey) and bassist Ian Mayer combine classical, traditional and spiritual
